V. WARNER PUBLIC LIBRARY
CLINTON, ILLINOIS

IN HONOR OF . . .

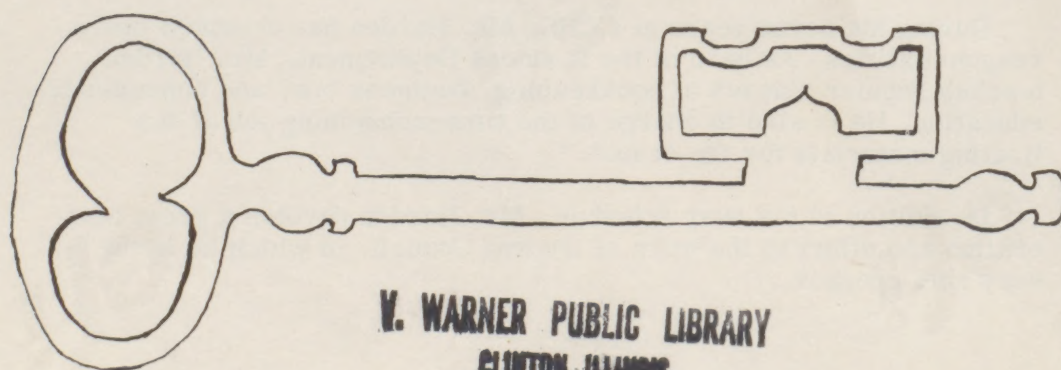

In tribute of the fine work which Mr. Paul Harden has done as a member of the faculty of CCHS, we, the 1963 Clintonia staff, would like to dedicate our yearbook to him.

During his seven years at CCHS, Mr. Harden has accepted many responsibilities. As head of the Business Department, Mr. Harden teaches regular classes of bookkeeping, business law, and consumer education. He is also in charge of the time-consuming job of duplicating materials for the school.

In addition to his busy schedule, Mr. Harden devotes a great deal of time and effort to the work of Student Council, of which he is the very able sponsor.

OUR LIBRARY: KEY TO LEARNING

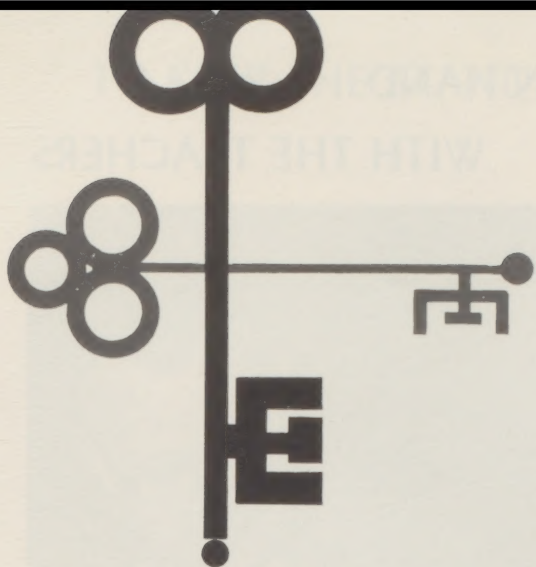

Knowledge is the key to learning and there is no better place to begin to obtain knowledge than in the rows of books, stacks of magazines, and the numerous other materials found in a library. The students at Clinton Community High School have been very fortunate to have the facilities of a newly remodeled library at their command this year. The new library is equipped with comfortable new desks, tables, and chairs, and large overhead lights which provide ample lighting. The larger area for displaying more library materials makes it easier to find information more quickly. The fine work done by Mrs. McKelvey and her able library assistants adds greatly to the convenience and effectiveness of the library.

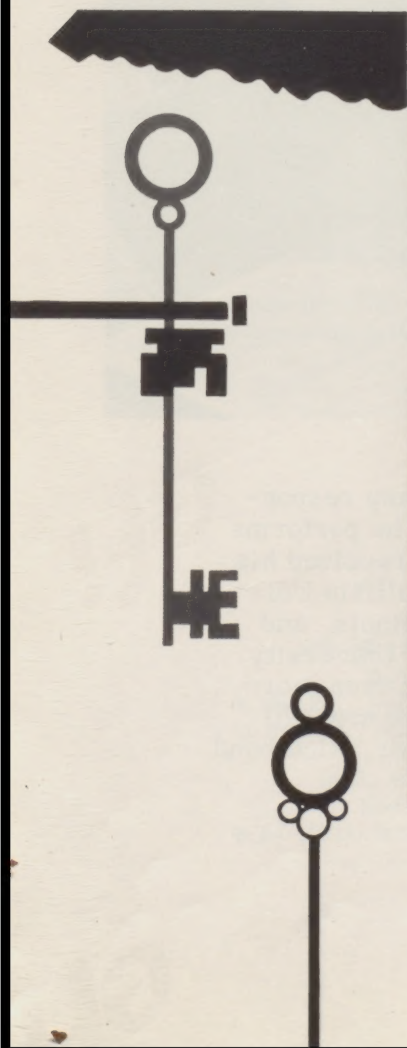

Education at CCHS not only holds the key to knowledge, but to a great many other things as well. The key of knowledge only opens the main door behind which a person can find many other challenging opportunities.

The key to becoming well acquainted with a great many people is also a valuable part of a student's life. The many and varied extracurricular activities and social events lay the foundation for the student's future.

FACULTY

MR. RICHMOND WORKS HAND IN HAND

WITH THE TEACHERS

As principal of CCHS, Mr. George Richmond has many responsibilities and duties. Although his job is a difficult one, he performs it very capably. He is well qualified for the job, having received his B. in Ed. at Eastern Illinois University, his M. S. at Millikin University, his Advanced Certificate at the University of Illinois, and is now working on his Doctorate at Illinois State Normal University. During his seven years as principal, his job has become even more difficult because the enrollment has grown until there are now 670 students enrolled at Clinton High School. Pictured with Mr. Richmond is his secretary, Mrs. Donna Vermillion.

ENGLISH

Juniors do research for term papers.

"Double, double, toil and trouble."

Nothing is as important as our ability to communicate with other people, and this skill can be readily acquired by CCHS students. The four years of English which are provided prepare the students well for any later occupation.

Dance on, Macbeth!

SCIENCE

The advanced biology class studies the anatomy of the human body.

Chemistry students examine a model atom.

In keeping with the increase of scientific knowledge, the science department has steadily expanded too, until there are now classes available in general science, biology, advanced biology, chemistry, and physics.

MATHEMATICS

These boys are studying the slide-rule, one of the many tools of mathematics.

Problems explained on the board are usually easier to comprehend.

As any math student can tell you, working with figures can sometimes become tedious. Completion of any of the math courses- practical math, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and solid geometry is a very worthwhile accomplishment.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Two boys demonstrate wrestling hold while class looks on.

Girls play volley ball according to new rules.

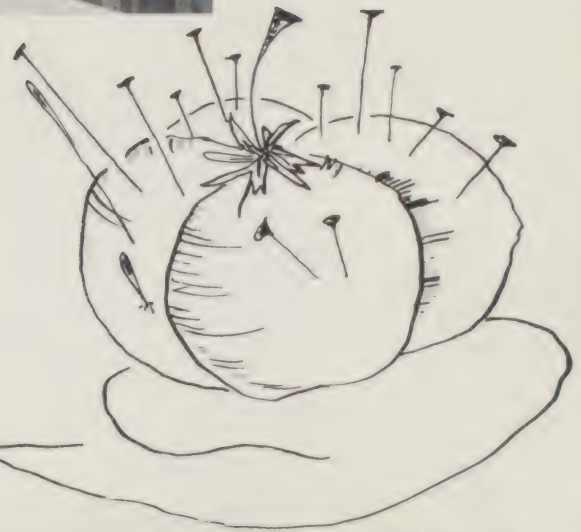

The many facilities of the athletic department provide ample opportunity for participation in a great many sports. The use of two gyms makes it possible to have classes for both boys and girls P.E. each hour.

HOME ECONOMICS

Homemaking girls show cooking skills.

The four years of classes in home economics, in addition to the special senior homemaking class, give girls a variety of knowledge on such subjects as cooking, sewing, and child care.

The sewing class puts knowledge into practice.

AGRICULTURE

One of the many facets of agriculture is arc welding.

Agriculture boys start work on their electricity project.

Agriculture classes provide helpful discussions of various farming problems and techniques. The work the boys do on their projects helps them put their knowledge into practice.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Boys in drafting sketch plans on drawing boards.

Jim Staton builds boat as industrial arts project.

The courses offered in the industrial arts program include general shop, wood-working, metalworking, electricity, and drafting, and provide a basis for jobs in the industrial fields.

BUSINESS

Clerical students learn how to use one of the many forms of duplicating.

Mr. Treash, student teacher, demonstrates techniques of shorthand.

The business department of the high school offers a wide variety of subjects to the students. In addition to first year typing and shorthand, there are courses in general business, book-keeping, business law, consumer education, and office practice.

Many students enjoy typing.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Students in this sociology class conduct a panel discussion.

So that the students may have some idea of the background and development of the world, courses in social science, American history, and world history are required subjects. Electives in social science courses include economic geography and sociology.

Reports are given in social science class.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Spanish students refer to the map of Mexico in their studies.

In French not only is the language studied, but also the government and social activities.

The foreign language department of the high school consists of classes in French, Latin, and Spanish; and there are two years of study offered in each language course.

ART

A relatively new class which was added to the curriculum only last year was the beginning art class. In addition, this year there is also a class for the advanced art students.

Clay work is a part of art.

IN MEMORY

The Clintonia staff would like to dedicate this page to the memory of Dick Jones and Leon Goodpasture who lost their lives Christmas Day in an automobile accident while returning from working on an FFA project. Both boys were active in FFA. Not only those who knew Dick and Leon well, but all of the students at Clinton High School, felt a deep sorrow at the loss of these two classmates.

Richard E. Jones
1946-1962

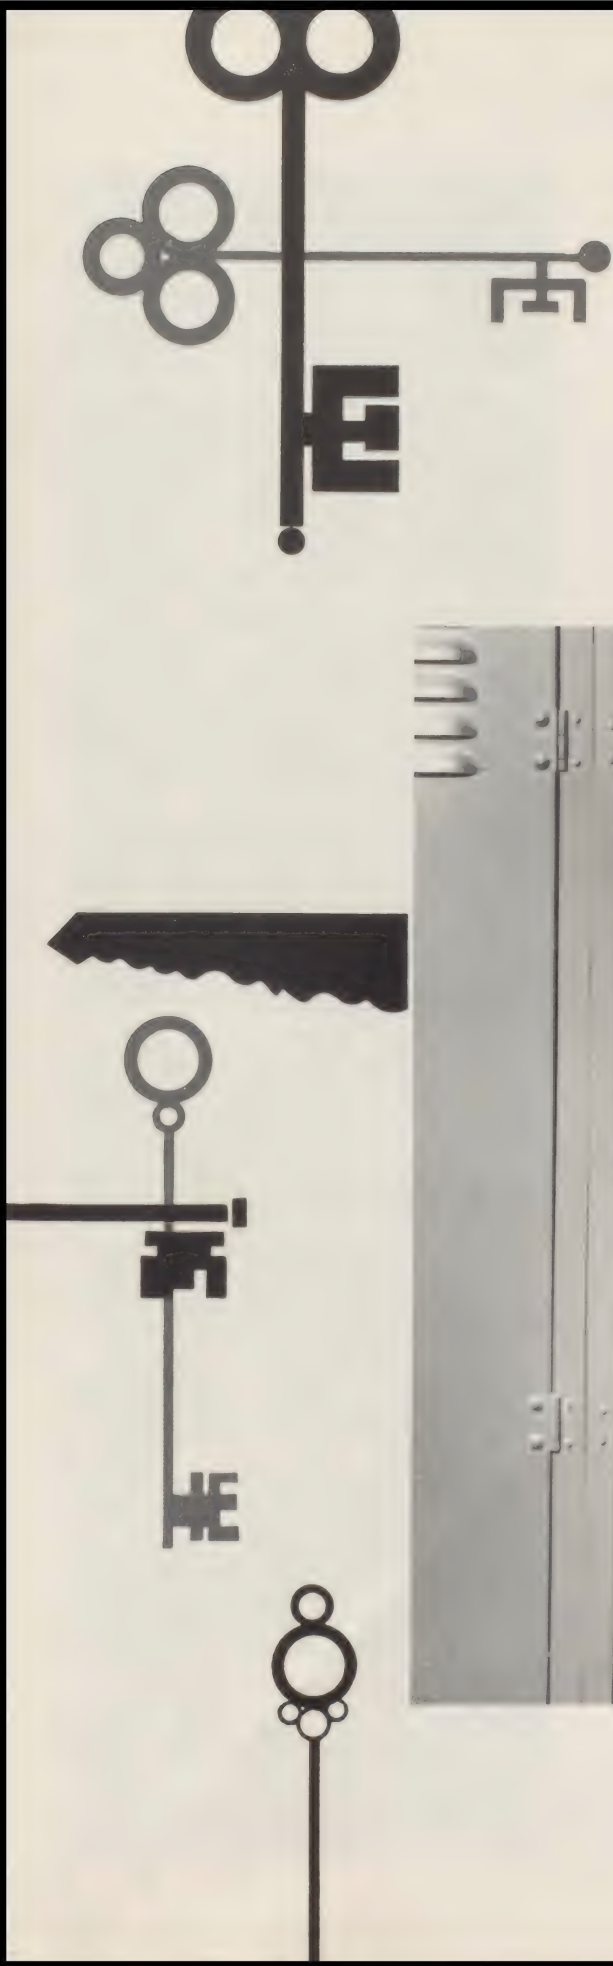

Dick Jones was a junior at CCHS and an active member of Pep Club and FFA. He held the honors of Green Hand Farmer and Chapter Farmer in FFA, and this year was elected Sentinel of the Clinton chapter. His main interest was in agriculture and he was active in 4-H. His main 4-H project was hogs, and he also had horses which he enjoyed riding. He was a member of the Kenney Methodist Church.

Leon Goodpasture
1947-1962

Leon Goodpasture was a freshman at Clinton High School and was a member of the Pep Club and FFA. In his first year in the Clinton FFA chapter, he received the Green Hand Farmer Award. He was also active in 4-H work. He was a member of the Kenney Christian Church.

SANDI FORTNER

CHILI SUPPER

Daily high salesmen in the magazine drive were as follows: ROW ONE: Pat Rabbe, Sandi Fortner, Barb Bohn, Dee Patterson, Sharon Thurber, Ann Humphrey. ROW TWO: Terry Ijams, Roy Willis, David L. Armstrong.

As a reward for the excellent salesmanship shown by the Senior Class, they enjoyed themselves at a Chili Supper on November 29, 1962. In homeroom competition, Mr. Wayne Cole's homeroom came in first and, therefore, were guests of the other four homerooms. The class of '63 set a new record in the annual magazine sales by selling $3,900 topping the goal of $3,000. Congratulations, Class of '63!!

SADIE HAWKINS DANCE

Students enjoy novelty dances.

Sponsors also enjoy the dance.

Most students dressed as Dogpatch characters.

Everyone wanted to be first at the marrying stand.

Junior Class Play

On November 17, 1962, when the curtain rose and the lights dimmed, the Junior Class presented Father Knows Best, a comedy in three acts. Well-meaning father, Steve Klinkert, and Margaret, his patient wife, played by Diane Farnsworth, try desperately to understand the antics of their three children.

Father thinks their teenage daughter Betty, played by Cinda Phares, is going to elope. Betty's younger brother Bud, played by Bill Quimby, has as much trouble with his little sister Kathy and her playmate, Patty, Judy Quimby and Joyce Smock, respectively, as his father does with Betty.

The incidents which arise in the everyday life of this modern-day family and the action they take to solve their problems provided enjoyable entertainment for all who attended the Junior Class Play.

"Officer, this is all a mistake!"

"Why are you unpacking in here, Kathy?"

"Kathy, you've got your dirty pajamas!"

FATHER KNOWS BEST

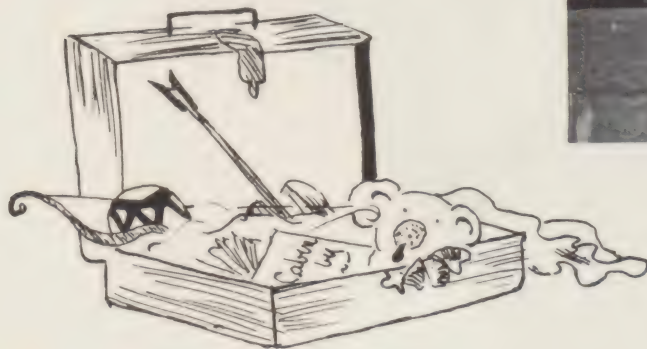

"Mother, he's being horrible."

"Come on, you're coming down to the station too."

"He wants to ask you questions."

DANCE

During intermission couples talk.

Couples enjoy the music and dance to it.

Couples enjoy refreshments served by F. H. A. girls.
